We are happy to present to you: Our handbook on Blended-Learning

The pandemic has stirred everything up, from visiting friends and families and going on vacation to the way we study and teach.

While some struggled to cope with the changed setting, others went ahead and dived into eLearning. The recent two years have shown us how important it is to be able to teach online.

That is why we are happy to finally present our handbook on how to implement the Blended-Learning approach into your lessons. We provide you with a complete guide on implementing Blended-Learning activities, covering everything from conducting a needs assessment, designing a digital learning course, developing learning materials to launching the course.

What are the benefits?

We provide you with everything you need to implement Blended-Learning modalities to your lessons successfully:

- step by step guide
- helpful tools and resources
- all the knowledge you need to kickstart your eLearning journey.

See our Website for all the knowledge you need on Blended-Learning.

Next Steps

Next steps: All partners will work on finishing a learning and training program that we will be set up on an LMS. The training will interactively guide you through all the essential steps to start your Blended-Learning course.
